Re: (Systemwide Senate Review) Proposed Revisions to Senate Bylaw 55 (Departmental Voting Rights)

Dear Chair Steintrager,

The divisional Executive Board (EB) appreciated the opportunity to review the (Systemwide Senate Review) Proposed Revisions to Senate Bylaw 55 (Departmental Voting Rights). EB reviewed the proposal and divisional committee and council responses at its meeting on November 9, 2023.

Members voted in favor of a motion to report that they were divided on the issue: in principle, they concur with the desire to achieve greater equity for Lecturers with Security of Employment, and they have concerns about both the dangers and the unintended consequences of implementation of this policy as it is written. Members recognized that this proposed revision impacts UCLA differently than other UC campuses.

The Executive Board respectfully requests close review of the enclosed divisional committee and council letters that detail the reasons for both supporting and opposing the current proposal.

Sincerely,

Andrea Kasko
Chair

Re: (Systemwide Senate Review) Proposed Revisions to Senate Bylaw 55 (Departmental Voting Rights)

At its meeting on October 10, 2023, the Council on Academic Personnel (CAP) discussed the systemwide Senate review of the proposed revisions to Senate Bylaw 55 (departmental voting rights). Members unanimously opposed the proposed revisions to Senate Bylaw 55. Per APM-210, faculty in the Lecturer with Security of Employment (LSOE) series are expected to have “[s]uperior intellectual attainment, as evidenced particularly in excellent teaching and secondarily in professional and/or scholarly achievement and activity” (emphasis added). Most commonly, their “[p]rofessional and/or scholarly activities may be related to the underlying discipline itself or to the pedagogy.” Whereas faculty in the (regular) Professor series are expected to have “[s]uperior intellectual attainment, as evidenced both in teaching and in research or other creative achievement” (emphasis added). Members were concerned that LSOE faculty, who have a secondary focus on scholarly achievement (more commonly in pedagogy, rather than in the discipline), may not be appropriately qualified to assess the achievement of faculty in the (regular) Professor series. Due to differences in department implementation and expectations of LSOE faculty, members expressed that the current bylaw empowers department faculty to extend voting rights when appropriate for their department.

Thank you for the opportunity to review and comment. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at CColwell@mednet.ucla.edu or via the Council’s analyst, Lori Ishimaru, at lishimaru@senate.ucla.edu.

Members unanimously supported the proposed revisions.

CHAIRS OF SENATE DIVISIONS AND SYSTEMWIDE COMMITTEES:

Re: Systemwide Senate Review of Proposed Revisions to Senate Bylaw 55

Dear Colleagues,

I am forwarding for systemwide Senate review revisions to Senate Bylaw 55 proposed by the University Committee on Academic Personnel (UCAP) and endorsed by the 2022-23 Academic Council.

As background: in 2018, the University revised the Lecturer with Security of Employment (LSOE) title series in Academic Personnel Manual (APM) 285 by introducing a new rank-and-step series designed to be parallel to the Professor series, with equivalent sabbatical privileges, higher expectations for teaching excellence and professional/scholarly achievements, and an emphasis on instruction and pedagogy for LSOEs when engaging in scholarly activities. The revisions also aligned the review criteria for LSOEs in APM 210-3 with the Professor series. The LSOE title was maintained, but campuses were allowed to use “Teaching Professor” or “Professor of Teaching” as an alternative working title.

UCAP and others have noted that the current wording of Bylaw 55 has fostered inconsistencies across campuses and departments. Certain departments have granted LSOEs departmental voting privileges on personnel matters consistent with provisions in Senate Bylaw 55.B that allow LSOE faculty to vote on others within their own series but not on those within the Professor series, unless approved by a two-thirds majority of those entitled to vote within the department. The proposed bylaw amendments seek to address the variability in LSOE voting privileges by granting all LSOEs full departmental voting rights.

Additionally, the Council has asked Provost Newman to initiate a review of revisions to APM 285 and other applicable sections of the APM to make “Teaching Professor” the official systemwide title for this series (e.g., Assistant Teaching Professor, Associate Teaching Professor, and Teaching Professor). If these title changes are approved for the APM, they will be accompanied by corresponding revisions to the relevant title references in Senate Bylaw 55.

Please submit comments to the Academic Senate office at SenateReview@ucop.edu by December 6, 2023 to allow us to compile and summarize comments for the Academic Council’s December 13 meeting. As always, any committee that considers these matters outside its jurisdiction or charge may decline to comment.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have additional questions.

Sincerely,

James Steintrager, Chair
Academic Council

RE: PROPOSED CHANGES TO SYSTEMWIDE SENATE BYLAW 55 FOR THE TEACHING PROFESSOR SERIES

Dear Susan,

The University Committee on Academic Personnel (UCAP) has discussed at length the voting rights of academic appointees in the Lecturer with Security of Employment (SOE) series. UCAP proposes changes to Senate Bylaw 55 to codify equal departmental voting rights for those in the LSOE series and the Professor series.

UCAP on Senate Bylaw 55

UCAP proposes that Senate Bylaw 55 be revised to give Teaching Professors/LSOE series voting rights within their departments. At present, those in the Teaching Professor series may vote on others in their own series but not on those in the Professor series unless so approved by two-thirds vote within the department.

Teaching Professors make important contributions to their departments in teaching, service, and scholarly activity (pedagogical innovation). In recent years the number of Teaching Professors has increased, and their collective contribution to their departments has thus become greater. UCAP therefore proposes that Teaching Professors have full voting rights within their departments, and thus be full partners in shaping their departments.

UCAP proposes revisions to Bylaw 55 as outlined in the attached track-changes and clean copies of Bylaw 55. Thank you for your partnership on these issues. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have additional questions.

Sincerely,

Francis Dunn, Chair
UCAP
